Love at GOON Park is particularly satisfying because the content is fascinating and the writing is so good! It's science that reads like a novel. The book is about Harry Harlow and his monkey experiments on mother love. The name GOON Park comes from the address of Harry's lab at 600 N Park, which, I suppose looked a little like "GOON."

Love at Goon Park: Harry Harlow and the Science of ...

"Love At Goon Park" is a fascinating look at a man and his work. Deborah Blum provides the reader with an extensive and sobering background before exploring Harry Harlow's research. Did you know that as recently as the 1950s, psychologists were trying to convince parents that too much cuddling and "love" were bad for their children?

Love at Goon Park: Harry Harlow and the Science of ...

In this meticulously researched and masterfully written book, Pulitzer Prize-winner Deborah Blum examines the history of love through the lens of its strangest unsung hero: a brilliant, fearless, alcoholic psychologist named Harry Frederick Harlow. Pursuing the idea that human affection could be understood, studied, even measured, Harlow (1905-1981) arrived at his conclusions by conducting ...

Love at Goon Park: Harry Harlow and the Science of Affection

The invention of Harry Harlow. Parental love, which is so touching and at bottom so childish, is nothing but parental narcissism born again and, transformed though it be into object-love, it reveals its former character infallibly. Sigmund Freud, 1914. He was born out of place, a dreamer and a poet planted in the practical Iowa earth.
